ANOTHER SUCCESS STORY

THE LIFELONG LOVE FOR LEARNING

Their eco-friendly campus provides a comfortable environment for students to absorb knowledge from their surroundings. In conversation with Ratna Tyagi, St. Xavier's World School, India, she tells us that they prioritize holistic development, academic excellence, and abundant co-curricular opportunities.

What made you decide to follow the path of an Educator?

My high school English teacher was the best instructor I've ever had. She employed a variety of methods to teach us, and I was impressed by her out-of-the-box approaches. Today, I aim to instill the same enthusiasm for creative approaches in my students at my school.

What is your take on student-teacher ratio? How important is it for any school?

I think that how well a child is educated in his early years will have a big impact on how he turns out. The student-teacher ratio is a key indicator of how well a school is doing this, and at St. Xavier's, we work hard to keep it at an appropriate level to support student learning and success. Teachers at St. Xavier's work more closely and intimately with fewer pupils, which allows them to tailor their instruction to different learning types.

What is the USP of your school? What makes it unique from the other schools?

Our USP is that teachers at St. Xavier's work with fewer students more closely, enabling them to tailor their instruction to different learning styles and instilling a passion for learning in our students that lasts a lifetime. Our school's ground promise students a comfortable, eco-friendly learning atmosphere where they can escape the monotony of the classroom and pick up knowledge from their surroundings.

How would you define the vision and mission of your school?

"Education is the key that unlocks the golden door to freedom."

From 'Pencil Paper' to 'Analytical Skills'

From 'Mirror-Species' to 'Think Tanks'

From 'Information' to 'Transformation'

At St. Xavier's Students are provided with multiple co-curricular opportunities for learning while ensuring that academic excellence remains undiminished, thus the focus is on holistic development of the child. We are committed to being an exceptional School which will make a difference and assist in creating global citizens of tomorrow. The graduates of our School will be cognizant, sensitive, reflective and participative individuals who, taking pride in themselves and the nation, will impact and influence a changing society with confidence and creativity.

What is that one thing that you believe needs to be changed in the education industry?

We cannot dispute the efforts made by the Indian government and institutions to change the current system of education. However, there are still a number of difficulties that need to be resolved. The most top-notch training should be provided to teachers because they play the most significant function in educational institutions. In the end, children are the ones who shape the future of a country.

An achievement that you are most proud of?

I feel successful so far for having started seven schools from scratch. I wouldn't describe myself as proud. I am most appreciative of the learning experiences that occurred while building these institutions from the ground up, as well as the opportunities, people, and other things that assisted me on my road of personal development.
